QUITE A BIG AFFAIR.

That New Wilkinsburg Railroad May be Traction or Electric.

IT WILL COME CLEAR DOWN TOWN

Either by an Independent Line or Hitched to Citizens' Cars.

THE SOUTHSIDE TRACTION SCHEME

It is as good as settled that Wilkinsburg is to have direct connection with Pittsburg by a street railway. The route is about completed, and those connected with the enterprise say work will be commenced on the road as soon as the charter is obtained. The corporators of "The Pittsburg and Wilkinsburg Railway Company" are W. W. Young, President of the Lawrence Bank; P. S. Urling, James Fitzsimmons, lawyer; Erasmus Hoeveler, an East Liberty stock dealer: W. G. Hastings, a real estate dealer of the East End, and John Perring. The capital stock is $3 0,000, divided into 120 shares. It is not expected that this sum will build the road and equip it, but this is merely a nucleus, and The route named in the application for the charter starts at the intersection of Matilda street with Penn avenue, just above the new Allegheny cemetery gates, and extends from Matilda street to the Morningside road, thence to Stanton avenue, to Meadow street, to Finley street, to Frankstown avenue, to Wood street, Wilkinsburg, to Main street or Penn avenue, to Water street, the Wilkinsburg

ONE VERY IMPORTANT POINT.

It is not yet decided whether the line will street, or come to the city by a separate route. Those seen on the matter yesterday would not talk on this part of the plan. They have not approached the Penn avenue traction folk in regard to connections, but are waiting to get their charter and routes under control. They are considering running over the lines of the itizens' Company to Pittsburg; again, transferirng passengers, and if no arrangements of this kind are entered into, they now have under this kind are entered into, they now have under advisement three different routes from Matihia street into the city. They would divulge nothing in regard to these routes.

The section the road will run through has not yet been tapped by any road, is some distance from the Pennsylvania Railroad, and will open up a large tract. The route is a circuitous one, not touching the territory of the other lines at any point. The Morningside road and Stanton avenue have large tracts of land now given up to farming, yet well suited for residences. W. W. Young and Mr. Has-tings own real estate along the line of the road, and Mr. Fitzsimmons also owns property there.

AN ELECTRIC STORAGE SYSTEM. The motive power has not been decided on system now being perfected by New Yorkers, and if this should not be a success the road will adopt the cable system, or possibly some ther electric scheme. The road will be about five miles long to its intersection with the Penn avenue line, and about seven miles long, should avenue line, and about seven miles long, should it be extended to the city.

The men having hold of the enterprise have enough capital among them to complete the road without seliciting stock elsewhere. Mr. Young will probably be Secretary and Treasurer, but the other officers have not been decided on. Mr. Hastings has taken a very active part in the preparations so far. The route and plan of the road have only been under consideration two months, and nothing was said of it in public until it was necessary to advertise the application for charter. ON THE SOUTHSIDE.

Recently THE DISPATCH printed the plan of a company which will build a bridge over the Monongahela river from Ross street. It the Mononganea liver from Ross street. It was then stated that it was for a new traction railroad. This road was chartered yesterday. The company is called the Southside Traction Railway Cempany and has a capital stock of $100,000. The stockholders are Jamos A. McDevitt, of Lancaster, who holds 1,800 of the 2,000 shares; Joshua Rhodes, A. M. Neeper, A. F. Keating, John F. Steel and T. P. Given, of Pittsburg. The line will be single track, eight miles long, beginning on Water track, eight miles long, beginning on Water track, eight miles long, beginning on Water street, at the Southwestern terminus of the Transverse Passenger Railway; thence along Water to Ross street, to South First street, across the Monongahela river: thence to Mo-Kean street 10 South Third street, to Bingham, to South Seventeenth street, to Bingham, to South Seventeenth street, to Sidney, to South Eighteenth, to Jane, to South Twentyninth street, and return to the place of beginning by the same route. The branches are as follows: First, leaving the main line at South Eighteenth and Sidney streets, thence by Sidney to South Twenty-second, to main line at Jane; second, leaving main line at Ross and Water streets, thence to First avenue, thence to Wood street, using 200 feet of the tracks of the Transverse Passenger Railway Company to form a circuit to Second avenue, thence by Second avenue to Grant street, to First avenue, to Ross street, to Water street, at the main line. was then stated that it was for a new traction

OAKLAND AND SOUIRREL HILL. The directors of the Pittsburg Traction Railway held a meeting yesterday and accepted the ordinance giving them the right to construct an electric railway feeder along Atwood, Boquet and Ward streets, in Oakland. The con-quet and Ward streets, in Oakland. The contracts for the grading and paving will be let next week, Yesterday Messrs. P. A. B. Widener and W. L. Elkins, of Philadelphia, accompanied by the local officers of the Traction company and some of the directors of the Squirrel Hill Railway, started from the power house in Oakland and went over the line of the Squirrel Hill Railway. Much satisfaction was expressed at the way. Much satisfaction was expressed at the manner in which the work has already been dene, and the various gentlemen of the traction company were much pleased with their excur-company were much pleased with their excursion.

The contract for the building of the road calls for its completion by the middle of October, but the contractors say the work will be finished by the middle of September. One of the directors of the road to-day said: "The road will be running by October. It is the intention to put in a switch and run our cars right into the city by means of the traction road. The cars will be run on our road by means of an electric motor, until the traction line is reached, when the cars will be coupled on to the cable cars. This will be an excellent arrangement both for the traction road and our own. We will have five cars and the trips will be made every ten minutes over the three miles of our road from Flith avenue to the cemetery. On each car will be placed two 15-horse power motors, which will develop enough power to haul an extra car not equipped with a motor; this last car will be run as a trail car on the traction road. It is the intention to extend the Squirrel Hill road down to the Wilkinsburg Valley in the near future."

ANOTHER PITTSBURG MODEL.

Clevetand is Urged to Emulate a Novel Excursion Scheme.

Alluding to a model excursion party from Pittsburg, the Cleveland Plain Dealer of yes-

Pittsburg, the Cleveland Pidia Dedict of yes-terday morning said:

They were a party of excursionists from Pitts-burg who came to have a good time, and the scheme of the excursion is such a splendid idea and such a novelty that it is worthy of more than scheme of the excursion is such a splendid idea and such a novelty that it is worthy of more than ordinary comment. There is a German Evangelical Church in Pittsburg located on Smithfield streetand its pastor, the Rev. Mr. Ruoff. has hit upon the happy thought of starting an excursion of b in the congregation, the idea being to take an annual trip to come city, all the excesses to be paid out of the treasurer's common fund. Each member pays a certain sum per week and little entertainments given throughout the winter help to swell the treasurer. The club is known as Ruoff's Excursion Club and the Rev. Mr. Ruoff is responsible for the young excursionists to their parents. Some day they will determine to take a rest of about two or three years and go to California, but the scheme is such a thoroughly good one that it is worthy of being initated by churches throughout the country as it gives the congregation an opportunity to see a good part of the country at comparatively small expense.

The party reached town yesterday afternoon and put up at the Strieburger. The Rev. Mr. Ruoff engineered the crowd, and shortly after their arrival they marched out of the hotel. The crowd was made un of the following: James Lowrie, Charlotte Lenti, Messra. Lenti. Jacob Goettel and wife, Charles Scholdt, Lizzle Walther, A. Aberie, W. Octige, F. Wilharm, Miss Wilharm, Max Ruening, John Battenfelder, Minnie Ambacher, Minnie Lier, Carrie Wentz, Louis Schlegel, Anna Ludebuhi, Lena Ommesi, Emma Gouldemann, Feter Gemmell, Minnie Rupp, Anna H. In the afternoon they took the cars for the Garfield memorial, and at hight they visited Reyerie's Park. To-day they will take the steamer City of Detroit for a day on the lake and around the Islands, and to-mo

THE DRUMMERS' EXCURSION.

A Quiet Day Enloyed by One-Thirtleth as

Many Drummers as Guests. In point of comfort, the excursion and picule given by the Traveling Men's Commercial Club yesterday was a success. The crowd started out for comfort and subdued pleasure, and many of them had their wives or sweethearts with them. There was pleuty of music and many of them had their wives or sweethearts with them. There was plenty of music and dancing, and opportunity for rational enjoyment and rest, and the state of the weather was conducive to quiet.

At 10:10 A. M. Captain Lew Clark was notified by a quadruple toot on the whistle that it was time to cast off his hawser, and the Mayflower dropped out into the stream. The band struck up. Before reaching the Point bridge some were threading the mazes of the dreamy waltz, while others on the outskirts struck up the double shuffle opposite the mouth of Sawmill run. Fishing clubs dotted the banks for miles along the shore.

On the way back it began to dawn on many aboard that the play was "Hamlet" without Hamlet in the cast. As near as could be learned, there were six commercial travelers aboard, more or less, principally less. Captain Clark explained that it didn't make any difference financially, as there had been several times as many neople who bought tickets as the boat could carry.

Ahout 3 o'clock dancing ceased, and the crowd enjoyed the scenery for a change, and by the way, it can be stated without a shade of exaggeration, that in its way it is as fine as that of the Hudson or the Rhine, and Pilot William McDonald was a better guide than the professionals who speak their pieces in Europe.

Picule Lads and Lussies Are Given Advice-

They Listen to a Speech on Marriage as a Failure-A Picule Novelty. The Cumberland Presbyterian or Union Park Sabbath School, of North and Grand avenues, Allegheny, held a picnic at Wildwood Grove, on the P. & W. Railroad yesterday. A novel feature was the address by Rev. J. H. Barnett, pastor of the church, on the subject of "The Witty and Amusing Side of Pulpit and Platform," and that also of Mr. John Thresher, an Allegheny jeweler, on the difficult question, "Is Marriage a Failure?"

Mr. Thresher said that man was all powerful.

but nevertheless he cannot subdue woman. He referred to the discussion in the past ages on wine, king and woman as to which was the mightiest. He believed that those who held woman as the mightest were in the majority. "Men are in subjection to women and you cannot make it otherwise." he continued. "The cause of so many failures in marriage is because men and women do not show themselves in their true colors to each other when courting. I think marriages in a 'squire's office are enough to start young married people on the wrong track. Think of a wedding being performed in a dirty, little close office and the 'Squire asking God's blessing on you. On the other hand vows made in a church are held more sacred. The great reason of marriage by magistrates is the union of those of the opposite religious views. This leads to after discussions between husband and wife as to which church their children shall be baptized in, and you will find, if you will examine the records of the different courts, that there are more cases of divorce springing directly from this cause than from any other. To make a happy marriage I should advise always that the wife have full full control of the children, at least the girls. The woman will have her own way anyhow, and it will be best to give your consent rather than have her do as she pleases."

He quoted Judge Collier, who, he stated, said that a woman had no right to rush to court for a divorce just when her husband struck her because she was the cause by exasperating him. He also quoted Judge White, who said that married people should have a great deal of forbearance, one to the other. Intemperance was also spoken of. He made it plain how women of his church. He did not think marriage was a failure, if all his suggestions were followed out.

Rev. Mr. Barnett then told some anecdotes and reminiscences about preachers. A number that he related involve ministers who are still preaching in Pittsburg, and for that reason he withheld the names. mightiest. He believed that those who held woman as the mightest were in the majority.
